President and Mrs. Neufeld could frequently be seen at special student-faculty banquets.

Dedication

Serving as Bethel's president for six and onehalf years, Dr. Vernon Neufeld contributed to a number of improvements during his administration. Two dormitory additions and the Fine Arts Center were built, student-faculty communications were improved, a new charter was written, a future building program was drawn up and a self-study was initiated.

Dr. Neufeld graduated from Bethel in 1949, after which he received his Th.D. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary. He returned to Bethel as professor of Bible in 1959, becoming Bethel's seventh president in 1960.

On January 1, of this year, Dr. Neufeld stepped down from the presidency to assume responsibilities as director of Mennonite Mental Health Services.

We consider it a privilege to have had you as president, and it is with deep-felt gratitude that we dedicate to you the 1967 Thresher.

Patterns of '67

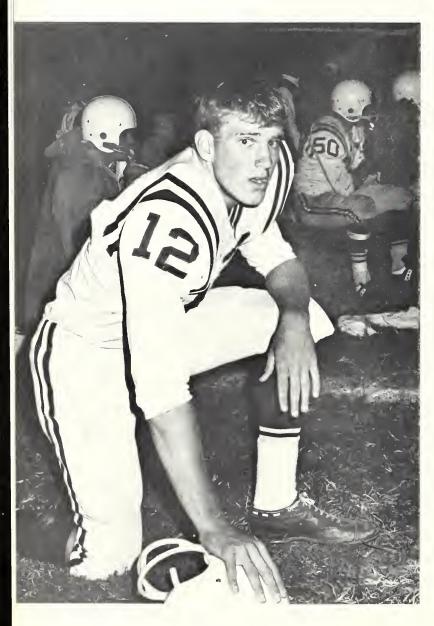

Look around you. Patterns are everywhere. Some patterns are obvious, as the division pages in this yearbook show—piano strings for features, nets for sports, a view of the administration building for academics, chair legs for organization, and caps of graduates for students. Other patterns are more subtle, shaping the memories of Bethel College.

The Peace Walk, telelectures, seminars, chapel periods, discussions on student freedom. choir tours, final exams, all these and many more, make up a pattern which cannot be erased easily from a Bethelite's mind.

The 1967 Thresher emphasizes patterns—those that are obvious and say, "Look, this is Bethel" and those that say not so obviously, "Bethel is a part of us, and we like it."

Over 600 students enroll during 1966-67 school year

The new school year started with great enthusiasm on the part of the large freshman class, as well as the three upper grades. A record enrollment of 606 students registered for classes in the fall. Freshmen numbered 202, sophomores 155, juniors 92, and seniors 105.

President Neufeld welcomed new students to Bethel at the annual opening of school in Memorial Hall. A student-faculty tea was held for freshmen in the Student Union.

Besides saying goodbye to parents and meeting new friends, freshmen were introduced to rituals of initiation, saw the production, "Dinny and the Witches," and were invited to a retreat for forming Student Christian Fellowship seminars.

This is the way some students load their luggage.

The dramatic production, "Dinny and the Witches," which had been presented as part of the summer theater workshop, was again presented for students the first week of school.

Fall activities vary, October offers open house

The beginning months of school offered a variety of activities. In September new students were initiated and a retreat to inform students of the Student Christian Fellowship was held at Harvey County Park.

October, always a busy time in the year, also provided an unusually exciting program of activities. The highlight of the month was Founder's Day on October 9. Campus buildings were open for visitation, and an informal time was scheduled during the supper hour for the parents and students to meet the faculty. Also on that day the Gustav Dunkelberger Memorial was dedicated. A recital on the Steinway concert grand piano, part of the memorial, was given by Celia Goering, part-time music instructor.

Happy faces could be seen during open house when parents and friends of students were invited to visit the student dormitories.

A view from the Women's Residence Hall shows that it was again a perfect day weatherwise on Founder's Day.

Doors like this one could be seen in Women's Residence Hall. This particular door reads, "Thank goodness for People."

Besides playing the piano and organ, Carita also sang in various choral groups on campus.

Homecoming queen Carita fancies opera, music

This year's Homecoming queen, Carita Preheim of Marion, S. D., was crowned amid the colonial props reminiscent of the theme of "Powdered Wigs—Plum Pudding."

Since returning to Bethel after completion of nurses training at Bethel Hospital, Carita participated in various opera productions. She was also kept busy as president of Women's Residence Hall and as a resident assistant, as well as singing with the Madrigals and College Choir.

Fall quarter features art shows, one-act plays

Two art exhibits were up during fall quarter. The first one featured works of one of the best known watercolor painters in this region—Charles Sanderson of Wichita. The second show included a large amount of art and artifacts in the possession of the College. Included were examples from the "Golden Age" of Dutch art, the 17th century.

"Old Maid and the Thief," "Gianni Schicchi" are hits

Staging experiments and difficult music marked the one-act operas "Gianni Schicchi" and "The Old Maid and the Thief." The productions were given in Krehbiel Auditorium in October and were directed by Arlo Kasper, professor in drama, and Dr. Walter Jost, professor in music.

"Gianni Schicchi" dealt with the writing of a will. Buoso Donati upsets his relatives a great deal by leaving his large estate to charity upon his death. The local rogue, Gianni Schicchi is called in to turn the events by posing as Donati and writing a new will.

"The Old Maid and the Thief" dealt with a middle-aged spinster who allows a handsome beggar, but supposed criminal, to spend a night in her home.

Since the music was difficult, Dr. Jost did not always have restful moments as this picture shows.

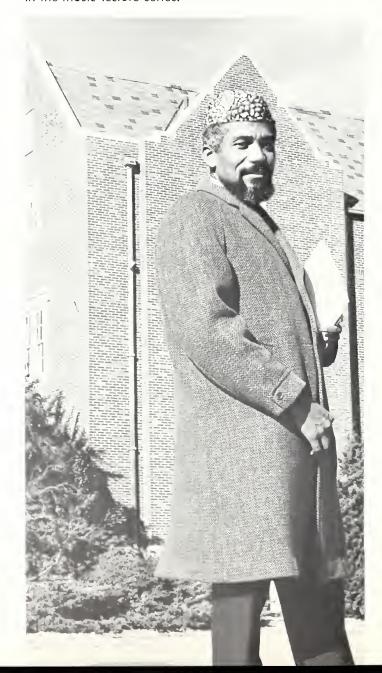

Mennonite history, Africa lectures are stimulating

A Dutch pastor, Rev. J. P. Jacobszoon, and a retired professor of world history and philosophy, Dr. Robert Friedmann, delivered the annual Menno Simons Lectures on campus this year. Jacobszoon presented the Reformation Sunday sermon and also lectured on the Dutch Mennonites; Dr. Friedmann's topic was "Anabaptism as Existential Christianity."

John Akar, African playwright, actor and director of Sierra Leone Broadcasting Service, was the Memorial Hall lecturer. His topic was "Which Way Africa?"

Another Memorial Hall music-lecture program featured a small orchestra with a big name. The Orchestra da Camera Academia Musicale Napoletana, an 11-piece ensemble conducted by Piero Guarino, received a standing ovation from a large audience. Featured on the program were selections by Rolla, Pergolesi, Mozart, Mortari, Bucchi and Boccherini.

Founders Day featured the dedication of the Gustav Dunkelberger Memorial Music Library. The library was given to the college by the brothers and sisters of Gustav Dunkelberger and contains records, music pieces and books. Also with the collection came a nine-foot Steinway grand piano.

Repentance Walk and Mail shows Vietnam War concern

About 90 persons walked from Memorial Hall to the North Newton post office on Veterans Day to mail several hundred letters to President Johnson and members of Congress advocating an alternate U.S. policy in Vietnam.

The walk was part of a day-long peace rally sponsored by the Peace Club. Dr. John M. Swomley, professor of social ethics at St. Paul School of Theology, Kansas City, Mo., gave two speeches during the day calling for peace in Vietnam.

Some weeks before the peace walk, Dr. Atlee Beechy who served as director of Christian Service in Vietnam gave students a picture of how the war is going there. He stated that the problems there are economic, political and social.

Civic Chorus, orchestra present Faure's "Requiem"

The Bethel College Choir, the Newton Civic Chorus and the College-Community Orchestra presented a concert of religious music in December. The choirs were directed by Dr. Walter Jost, and the orchestra was directed by Mr. Gary Fletcher.

The program consisted of "Motet No. VI" by Bach, "Christmas Concerto in G Minor" by Corelli, and "Requiem" by Faure. Soloists were Mrs. Edward Melcher, Newton, soprano, and Steve Fiol, India, senior, baritone.

"Children Paint the Nativity" was the name of the December exhibit. It featured children's paintings from all over the world.

"Twelfth Night" comedy includes love, chaos

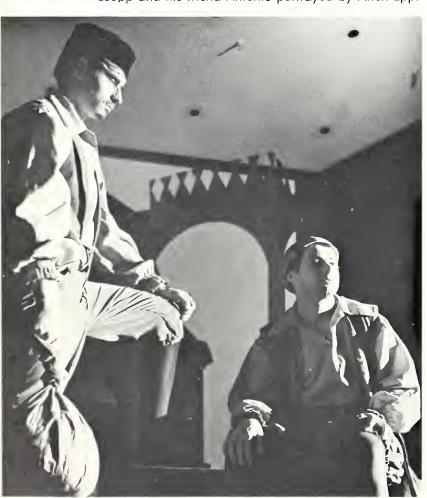

Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" was a complete success with audiences in January. The cast of 21 students proved that the play is "very unified and well-rounded containing extremely interesting characters."

The cast was directed by Prof. Arlo Kasper, who also designed the set. No curtains were used, and lighting changes and projections on the back wall added to the scene transitions.

Dr. Orville Voth was inaugurated as Bethel's eighth president on February 5 before a crowd of about 2,500.

Dr. Gordon Kaufman, professor of theology at Harvard Divinity School, Cambridge, Mass., spoke on "A Vision for a Mennonite College." He claimed that the Mennonite church may be dying out and that the brotherhood "must find her uniquely Memonite role in specifically modern, urban, complex cultural life." He added that "adaptation to the modern world is the only way in which the Mennonite church can survive as a distinct Christian communion."

Dr. Jack Finegan, professor of New Testament history and archaeology at the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, Calif., presented the annual Bible Week lectures Jan. 31-Feb. 2. Archaeology and the Bible were the topics of Dr. Finegan's presentations.

A series of Holy Week services replaced the annual Christian Life Week. A tenebrae service and passion program were the highlights of the week. The tenebrae is a service of Lenten music and readings during which candles are progressively extinguished until the church is in total darkness.

Debate and Forensics Squad wins over 70 contests

Bethel's debate and forensics squad had an outstanding record this year. The squad won over 70 contests during the year and defeated such schools as Kansas State, Wichita State, Washburn, University of Nebraska, University of Missouri and Wisconsin State University.

Bethel was the only Kansas college to send orators to the Interstate Oratorical Association

Contest in Detroit, Mich., a feat accomplished by winning the state collegiate oratorical contest. Donna Unruh of Goessel went to Detroit with her oration, "Volunteers for Peace."

The debate topic this year was: "Resolved, that there should be a substantial reduction of U.S. foreign policy commitments."

Terry Unruh and Richard Walker had the best overall record, winning 38 debates and losing 24 for a 61 percent winning average.

A large number of visitors attended the Fine Arts-Folk Festival again this year. The Festival was held in April and featured Kaffee-Klatsches with traditional German foods, demonstrations, craft exhibits, outdoor events, stage programs and art films. The theme of the art exhibit and films was "Peace and War."

The Festival originated 15 years ago. This was the first year that a combined program of the fine arts department and folklore themes was given.

The play takes place at the ancient city of Troy after the end of the ten-year Trojan War. The men have been killed and the captive women are waiting to be shipped off.

A chorus of six women was on stage continuously, talking about what had happened and how they felt. The play was directed by Arlo Kasper.

Weak offense and a young squad affect team showing

A punchless offense and lack of experience helped bring about Bethel's second consecutive winless football season. As a team, the Threshers managed to score only 41 points all season and the defense scored 14 of these. The lack of experience was evidenced on the roster with a total of 27 freshmen and sophomores out of a squad of 38. This young squad never gave up though, and had a good chance for some victories except for a few bad breaks.

Some individual efforts must be recognized. The tri-captains: Wayne Unruh, Stan L. Voth, and Jay Goering, the only seniors on the squad, led the team with their never ending hustle and spirit. These three played both offense and defense a large part of the season.

Jerry Hershberger led the team in pass receiving with 33 receptions for 418 yards, good for fourth place in the KCAC. Hershberger missed making the all-conference team by one vote.

Doug Penner led the team in total offense and passing yardage with 514 and 551 respectively.

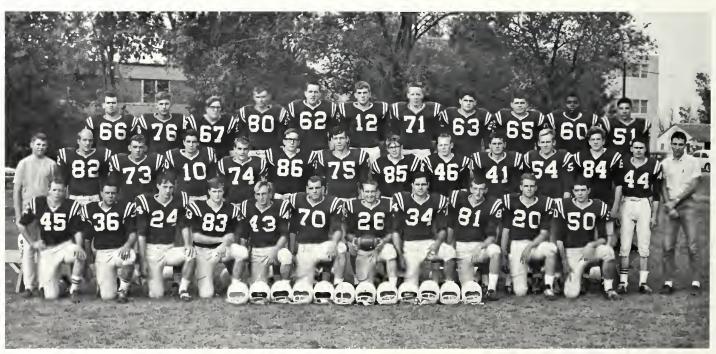

A middle linebacker, Dennis Loepp, was the bulwark of the defensive unit. His name was also mentioned in the all-conference selections.

Threshers play best game of year against Friends

The Threshers opened the season against the Baker Wildcats, losing 16-0, in a steady downpour of rain. This was one of the team's better efforts as they outplayed the Wildcats statistically. The defense played exceptionally well and all 16 of Baker's points were scored off the Thresher's offense.

The next week Bethel traveled to Ottawa to face the perennially tough Braves. After the Threshers had a good series of three or four first downs, the Braves took over and scored almost at will throughout the game. Ottawa led at halftime, 33-0, and scored four more TDs the second half to bring the final score to 60-0.

After this sound beating the Threshers bounced back to play their best game of the year against Friends, only to lose on two blocked punts which the Falcons recovered for touchdowns. Bethel led at half 13-7, but the second half was a complete reversal with Friends capitalizing on some costly penalties and the blocked punts to score three touchdowns while holding the Threshers scoreless, making the score 27-13.

This game seemed to take something out of Bethel as they were run over by previously winless Sterling 39-2. Fumbles and intercepted passes paved the way for the Thresher's loss. Bethel had more total offense than did the Warriors, but couldn't compensate for the mistakes.

College of Emporia was the Thresher's next foe and they continued Bethel's woes as they romped 50-7. The Presbies' offense was at its best as they scored seven touchdowns.

Hopes for Homecoming dashed with Southwestern

Bethel's next encounter was with the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes. Both teams were winless and in the KCAC cellar. The Threshers had high hopes for a victory, only to play their worst game of the year and get thrashed 46-o. The Coyote's offense was astounding as they rolled up 553 yards.

Hopes for a Homecoming victory were dashed when the Southwestern Moundbuilders sent the Threshers reeling to their seventh consecutive defeat 46-7. Bethel's offense managed only 47 net yards all afternoon and the touchdown was scored on a recovered fumble by Thresher defensive tackle Howard Reimer.

Bethel rebounded to give McPherson a scare in the first half before fading and losing 31-12. The Thresher's longest play from scrimmage of the year resulted in a 59-yard touchdown pass from Doug Penner to Jay Goering.

Bethel's final game of the season was symbolic of their play throughout, as they were bombed by the Swedes from Bethany 49-o. The Swedes' offensive unit rolled up a total of 529 yards while Bethel racked up their second highest total offense output of the year with 241 yards.

Basketball

Threshers tie for third in the Kansas Conference

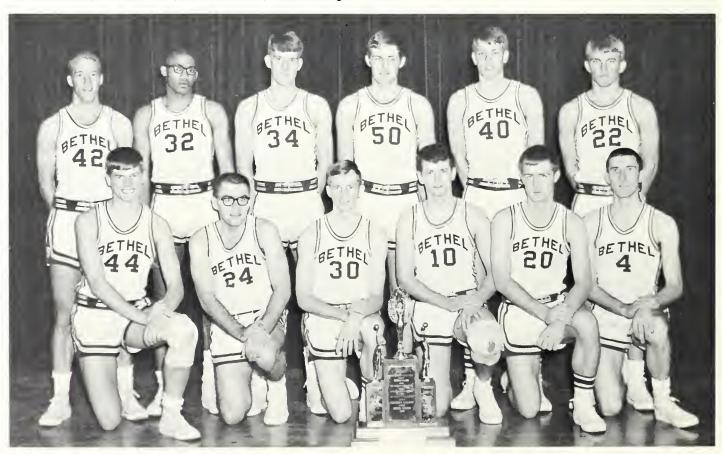

A young, but hustling, Bethel basketball squad grabbed a share of third place in the Kansas Conference with a 10-8 record. Overall, the Threshers compiled 12 wins against 9 losses. Playing in Lindley Hall, Bethel won seven out of nine games, but on the road they were only mediocre, winning five and losing seven.

Several members of the squad made very respectable showings through the year. Bruce Ediger was selected by the coaches for the All-Conference team. He led the Threshers in scoring with an 18.7 average, which was also good enough for third in the conference. Chet Roberts won the conference free throw championship, hitting 65 of 72 attempts for a 90.3 percentage. He was consistently among the national leaders throughout the season.

Coach Harms goes over game strategy with the Thresher starters Chet Roberts, Bruce Ediger, Stan Voth, Steve Schmidt and George Waddles.

Threshers capture first at Moundridge Tournament

Bethel opened its season in great fashion by capturing the Central Kansas Tournament at Moundridge. The Threshers whipped the Bethany Swedes the first night, 63-58, thus earning the right to play Tabor for the title. A great second half comeback was too much for the Blue Jays as the Threshers rallied to win, 64-60.

Kansas Wesleyan was Bethel's first conference opponent and the Coyotes fell victim to an inspired Thresher effort and were defeated, 69-65. This was one of only three losses the Coyotes suffered all year on their way to the conference championship.

1967 B-Team—TOP ROW: Lyle Stucky, Doug Penner, Loren Huse, Ray Loewer, Pete Goering, Paul Schrag.

Southwestern then snapped Bethel's victory strings at three as they ran over the Threshers, 97-78.

Getting back on the winning track, the Threshcrs nipped the Bulldogs from McPherson, 70-68, in an overtime thriller. Ediger paced the squad with 27 points.

In one of Bethel's poorer showings, they were swamped by the Sterling Warriors, 83-57, just before the Christmas vacation.

Returning from vacation, the Threshers lost heart-breakers to Ottawa and College of Emporia 72-64 and 73-69. Ediger had 24 against Ottawa and Seve Schmidt hit 23 against the Presbies.

Friends' Quakers walloped 100-66 in final home game

Bethel played perhaps its finest game as it outclassed Bethany 96-53. All 12 varsity players scored in this game. A four conference win was earned with a second half rally, as the Threshers wrecked Friends, 75-59.

Kansas Wesleyan gained revenge for its earlier defeat as they beat the Threshers, 69-55 at Salina.

Bethel returned home to gain another victory. Baker was the victim this time as the Threshers led throughout the contest, winning 71-63.

In the next six games the Threshers gained two wins and four losses.

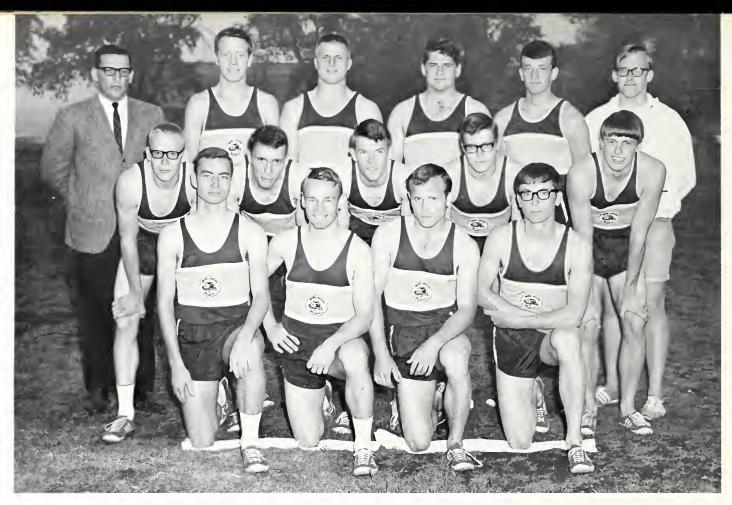

For the third time in three tries, Bethel defeated Bethany. The victory evened the Threshers' record at 8-8 for conference play.

Playing their final game of the season in Lindley Hall, and their final home game under Coach Harms, the Threshers rose to the occasion and walloped the Quakers from Friends. 100-66. Six men scored in double figures, with Bruce Ediger leading with 29.

In a battle for third place, Bethel came from behind to defeat Baker in a double overtime. 76-74. This victory ended the season for the Threshers and tied them for third with Baker.

The focus on the bench indicates the anxiety of the team at the Central Kansas Tournament.

Track team establishes several school records

An enlarged track squad combined with hours of practice produced four new school records and the Threshers' first track victory in several years.

Richard Friesen, sophomore sprinter of Reedley, Calif., was unbeaten by conference runners. His fastest time in the 100-yard dash was 9.8, this being .2 of a second faster than the existing school record.

Other track men establishing school records were Dennis Regier, freshman of British Columbia, in the three-mile run; Steve Goering, junior of McPherson, in the 440 intermediate hurdles; and Allen Jantz, Newton freshman, in the triple jump.

Outstanding season performances were turned in by Wade Brubacher, Newton sophomore and gold medal winner in the conference meet, in the discus; Rick Siebert in the shot-put; Jay Goering, Jerry Hershberger, Verne Voth and Richard Friesen in the mile relay.

"I have never worked with a group of boys who worked harder than this year's squad," said Coach Virgil Penner, who looks forward to a strong track squad next year.

Verne Voth and Jay Goering run even with Bethel of Minnesota in the relays.

Freshman Rick Siebert heaves the shot-put. Siebert showed improvement throughout the season.

Netmen take third place at Tabor tennis tourney

Close competition and three set matches high-lighted the play of the tennis team. In tournament competition the Bethel team placed third in the eight-team Tabor Tournament and was one of the six teams failing to score in the Conference Tennis Tournament. The best individual performances were in singles.

Inexperienced golfers show poise, win dual contests

For being inexperienced, the golf team made a good showing this year. Bethel did not field a golf team last year. Ted Koontz and Warren Gering were the only returning lettermen. Lettermen for this year were Ted Koontz, Warren Gering, Steve Unruh, Dnnis Ducck and Duane Swartzendruber.

The team won dual contests with Sterling twice, Bethany and Friends once, while losing to Mc-Pherson twice and to Friends once. The golfers also lost a triangular to C. of E. and Kansas Wesleyan. The fellows showed real poise in their matches and came from behind several times to win matches. The season was climaxed with the K.C.A.C. tournament at Spring Valley Country Club at Wichita. Bethel finished seventh in a field of eleven finishing ahead of Friends, Bethany, Sterling and Tabor. Steve Unruh was the leading golfer for Bethel there, finishing 17th in a field of 50 golfers.

Senior golfer was Warren Gering. He shared the number two spot with Steve Unruh. Ted Koontz played number one man.

Full basketball schedule, soccer head intramurals

The intramural program at Bethel was restricted mainly to basketball. A full slate of games were scheduled and played by the men during winter quarter. Ten teams participated in the program. Student Council seeks to satisfy student needs

In attempting to provide students of Bethel College with the best possible opportunities for a total educational experience, it was the job of the Student Council to seek out and to satisfy the students' needs and desires in all phases of campus life.

In fulfilling this purpose, the Council sought for a communications link with the administration and faculty, as well as promoted lectures and various forms of entertainment.

Larry D. Friesen of American Falls, Idaho ably served as Student Council president this year. Lois Foth kept students well informed with minutes she wrote as Stuco secretary.

Stuco projects further student involvement

Several projects were initiated this year to further student involvement. A teacher and course evaluations program, Student Union Forums to discuss campus concerns, and telelectures with national leaders were just a few.

The climax to a successful year came for Student Council with their sponsorship of the live performance of the Kingston Trio.

Next year's Stuco president, Richard Friesen, looks forward to a successful and innovating year.

Larger pages add new look to Thresher yearbook

This year's Thresher received a new look mainly because of the larger page size. Other changes were color on the inside of the book, a larger section for school events, and the combining of underclassmen.

To do away with the supplement, the annuals were printed during the summer months and delivered in the fall. Because of this, many hours were spent in June finishing up the book.

Letter Club builds Bethel through athletic activities

Sponsorship of events related to athletics was one way Bethel's varsity lettermen helped to create a positive relationship between the college athletic program and the community. The major project of the Letter Club each year is a men's Buffalo Barbecue. Lettermen also performed a number of service projects such as handing out programs at athletic events, participating in community recreation programs and helping purchase needed athletic equipment.
